

Paolo Cardelli

Environmental responsibility

At Paolo Cardelli, we believe everyone must lend a hand to sustain our precious natural resources and protect our planet. We recognize the need for environmentally responsible manufacturing, including the use of recyclable materials and the restriction of environmentally harmful substances.

From the earliest stages of product design, through manufacturing, and shipping, we take special care to keep our activities and our products environmentally sound.

Our binders are made using 100% post-consumer recycled boards. Our rings systems are recyclable and our cover materials, which are manufactured using a combination of latex, pulp, and recycled fibers, are also recyclable, process chlorine free, acid free and have an archival rating of 100+ years.
